Job Searching Resources and Workshops

If your goal this year is to find a new or better job, let the library help you! The New Bedford Free Public Library was recently awarded a grant of $7500 to provide resources for job seekers. This grant was awarded by the Federal Institute of Museum and Library Services through the Library Services and Technology Act administered by the Massachusetts Board of Library Commissioners.

The library has already acquired more books on job searching, writing resumes, cover letters, and acing your job interview.

Join us as we start off the year with “Mental Massage for Job Seekers” on Tuesday, January 8 at 6pm at the Main Library.

Tom Ingrassia, motivational speaker and president of The MotivAct Group, and Jared Chrudimsky, owner of Revitalize Massage Therapy of Worcester, will join forces in an interactive workshop that combines guided visioning, self-assessments, and physical massage to help you clarify your professional or personal goals, create a plan to achieve those goals, and reduce stress as you enhance your mind/body balance. Having a clear vision of your goals is an essential first step in the job-seeking process.

Future workshops will include topics such as resume tips, finding a job online or how to start a business. The library will also have training sessions on Optimal Resume, a powerful online resource that helps users with all steps of the job-searching process, from building a resume to answering sample job interview questions. The programs will culminate in a job fair in the spring.
